DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

3. Regarding claims 2 and 3, the word "means" is preceded by the word(s) "timing belt" in an attempt to use a "means" clause to recite a claim element as a means for performing a specified function. However, since no function is specified by the word(s) preceding "means," it is impossible to determine the equivalents of the element, as required by 35 U.S.C. 112, sixth paragraph. See Ex parte Klumb, 159 USPQ 694 (Bd. App. 1967).

4. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite in that it fails to point out what is included or excluded by the claim language. This claim is an omnibus type claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-7, as well as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amstad (USP 4,068,574) in view of Amstad (USP 4,258,069). Amstad '574 discloses a drive mechanism for food handling/processing equipment having a generally horizontal oriented rotating barrel 4, a plurality of shafts 7 aligned with their longitudinal axes parallel to the longitudinal axis of the barrel 4, a drive mechanism including a single motor 37 to drive V belt 34 and belt slave 40, wherein each shaft 7 having a pair of pulleys 33, the first of which is driven by the V belt 34 and the second of which is linked by the timing belt 40 (note Fig. 1-3, col. 2, line 3 to col. 3, line 5, col. 5, lines 53-57). Amstad '574 does not expressly disclose that a toothed timing belt slave 40. Amstad '069 discloses a drive mechanism for food handling/process equipment having a motor to drive a toothed timing belt 57 (note Fig. 2 and 6, col. 5, line 65 to col. 6, line 11). The substitution of one known element (timing belt) for another (toothed timing belt) would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention since the substitution of the timing belt shown in Amstad '069 would have yield predictable results, namely, a power transmission of the shaft in Amstad '574 to ensure non slip and constant speed. KSR International Co. v. Teleflex Inc., 82 USPQ2d 1385 (2007).
